STATUTES CITED

Wisconsin Statutes

§ 340.01(66) .....	1
§ 347.13(1) .....	1, 2
§ 973.155 .....	3

ARGUMENT

- I. Mr. Brown is Entitled to Sentence Credit from the Date of His Arrest to the Date He was Sentenced.

The state agrees that Mr. Brown is entitled to the 14 days of sentence credit between his revocation order in another case and the sentencing date on this case. See State's brief, pp. 3-7. Given this concession, Mr. Brown does not reply to the state's argument on this issue.

- II. The Police Lacked Reasonable Suspicion or Probable Cause to Stop the Vehicle for a Defective Tail Lamp and Therefore the Stop of the Vehicle Violated Mr. Brown's Constitutional Protections Against Unreasonable Seizures.

Contrary to the state's argument, a tail lamp with one of three bulbs unlit does not violate Wis. Stat. § 347.13(1). This is because the statute does not require that the tail lamp be in perfect working order, but rather "good working order". See Wis. Stat. § 347.13(1). If the legislature had wanted to require that each light bulb be in perfect working order at all times, it would have included language requiring all tail lamps to be fully functional whenever operated on Wisconsin roads and highways.

Moreover, having two of three tail lamp bulbs is sufficient to be in good working order given the definition and purpose of a tail lamp. As defined by Wisconsin Statute Section 340.01(66), a tail lamp is "a device to designate the rear of a vehicle by a warning light." Wis. Stat. § 340.01(66). Two illuminated light bulbs on one side of a vehicle is enough light to designate the rear of a vehicle to a vehicle traveling behind it. Therefore, because two illuminated light bulbs were emitting a warning light designating the rear of the vehicle, its tail lamp was in good working order. The police thus lacked reasonable suspicion or probable cause to stop the vehicle for a violation of Wis. Stat. § 347.13(1).

Further, the case relied upon by the state to argue to the contrary is an unpublished court of appeals' decision which is not binding authority on this court. This court is bound only by its published opinions. See Mount Horeb Community Alert v. Village Bd. Of Mt. Horeb, 2002 WI App. 80, ¶ 6, 252 Wis. 2d 713, 643 N.W.2d 186 ("We are bound by ...published opinions of the court of appeals.") (citing Cook v. Cook, 208 Wis. 2d 166, 189, 560 N.W.2d 246 (1997)).

III. Alternatively, Mr. Brown was Denied the Effective Assistance of Counsel When Counsel Failed to Argue that Wis. Stat. § 347.13(1) Does Not Require All Tail Lamp Bulbs Be Operational.

Mr. Brown relies on his argument in his brief-in-chief.

CONCLUSION

For all of the above reasons and the reasons stated in his brief-in-chief, Mr. Brown requests that this court reverse the circuit court's denial of his post conviction motion to suppress evidence and vacate his plea and sentencing and for 209 days of sentence credit and remand this case with an order to: 1) vacate the plea and sentencing; and 2) suppress the evidence obtained during the stop and search of the vehicle. Alternatively, he requests an order amending the judgment of conviction to include 209 days of sentence credit pursuant to Wis. Stats. § 973.155.

Dated this 13th day of July, 2012.
