IN SENATE

SUBSTITUTE AMENDMENT NO. 1, S., TO BILL NO. 575, S.

June 3, 1963—Offered by Senator KNOWLES.

1 To repeal and recreate chapter 4 of the statutes, relating to the re-
2 apportionment of the senate and assembly.

3 The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and 4 assembly, do enact as follows:

5 SECTION 1. Chapter 4 of the statutes is repealed and recreated to 6 read:

CHAPTER 4.

ASSEMBLY AND SENATE DISTRICTS.

9 4.01 STATEMENT OF PRINCIPLES. (1) In order to minimize the 10 differences of population between the 100 assembly districts of the 11 state, and between the 33 senate districts of the state, legislative dis-
12 tricts are established in accordance with the final published results of 13 the 1960 federal census of Wisconsin and with due regard to the re-
14 quirements of the constitution of this state.

15 (2) For the assembly, the provisions of the Wisconsin constitution
16 require districts of utmost convenience to the people of the whole state, and there were many, were his own. Like many of his contemporaries he was denied the benefit of a university education by lack of funds; yet, he knew his goals and made his way. He was only 15 years old when his father died and he was forced to leave school, from the ninth grade, to start supporting himself and contribute to the support of his mother. He worked on the railroad in various jobs and worked as a meat packer.

Harry J. Grant became a businessman when he returned to America from England, where he had worked as the representative of an American advertising company. A chance meeting on shipboard led to Grant's becoming manager of the American Viscose Company. His next step in the business world, as vice president of the Chicago advertising firm, O'Mara and Ormsbee, Inc., led to the acquaintance of Lucius W. Nieman, editor of the Milwaukee Journal. Mr. Grant was on the threshold of the newspaper world.

In 1916 Harry Johnston Grant was advertising manager of the Milwaukee Journal. Three years later he was vice president and treasurer of the company, a stockholder in the company, one of its 3 directors, and publisher of the Milwaukee Journal.

It has been said that in his half century of leading the Milwaukee Journal, Mr. Grant imbued the Journal with a set of standards amounting to a moral attitude, characterized by insistence on an editorial excellence and independence from pressures that might seek to influence a newspaper for personal gain. Under his leadership the Milwaukee Journal became known and respected, beyond the confines of Milwaukee County, as one of the leading newspapers in the middle west. The Milwaukee Journal is frequently cited for its "liberal" editorial policy—it was a "conservative" businessman who shaped this policy.

Mr. Grant became a patriarch among businessmen. As he, and the newspaper prospered, so did his employees. In 1935 Harry Grant developed the plan of employee ownership of the Milwaukee Journal Company, thus forestalling outside ownership of a Milwaukee institution. "The strength of an organization", Harry J. Grant has been quoted, "is in its human material. The biggest job of intelligent management is building people." He did not like to be referred to as "boss" by his employees, who called him "Mr. Grant". "That reminds me of Uncle Tom's Cabin and Simon Legree", Grant chided.

Mr. Grant had forceful and memorable convictions, when it came to editorial policy. He said: "We must have freedom . . . not to be willful, or bigoted, or swell headed . . . but so that the Journal can act entirely as it thinks best for the community. The Journal is above our frailties. The Journal's job is to serve the public. It can't be anything else." And another time: "The editorial columns express Journal opinions and strive to win people by marshalling facts and appealing to minds through logic rather than prejudice, emotions and hysteria."

For his achievements as a businessman, and for his dedication to journalism's best traditions, Mr. Grant was repeatedly honored by professional societies. In fact, Mr. Grant might be one of the few people of whom it can be said that they helped shape what have become the "best traditions."

The Wisconsin Legislature mourns his loss.

In view of the outstanding contributions by Harry Johnston Grant to the progress of Milwaukee city and county—and beyond these, the State of Wisconsin—be it

Resolved by the senate, the assembly concurring, That the Legislature express its great sorrow at the news of the passing of Harry Johnston Grant, and extends its heartfelt condolences to the surviving members of his family; and, be it further

Resolved, That duly attested copies of this resolution be transmitted to his survivors and to the Milwaukee Journal Company.

Published September 6, 1963.

No. 48, 1963

A JOINT RESOLUTION

To amend article VII, section 15, so as in effect to repeal said section; and to amend article VII, section 2, of the constitution, relating to abolishing the office of justice of the peace.

Resolved by the senate, the assembly concurring, That article VII, section 15 of the constitution be amended, so as in effect to repeal said section; and that article VII, section 2, of the constitution be amended to read:

(Article VII) Section 2. The judicial power of this state, both as to matters of law and equity, shall be vested in a supreme court, circuit courts, and courts of probate * * *. The legislature may also vest such jurisdiction as shall be deemed necessary in municipal courts, and may authorize the establishment of inferior courts in the several counties, cities, villages or towns with limited civil and criminal jurisdiction. Provided, that the jurisdiction which may be vested in municipal courts shall not exceed in their respective municipalities that of circuit courts in their respective circuits as prescribed in this constitution; and that the legislature shall provide as well for the election of judges of the municipal courts as of the judges of inferior courts, by the qualified electors of the respective jurisdictions. The term of office of the judges of the said municipal and inferior courts shall not be longer than that of the judges of the circuit courts.

SECTION 15. * * * Be it further

Resolved, That this proposed amendment be and hereby is referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election, and that the same be published for 3 months previous to the time of holding such election.

A JOINT RESOLUTION

Relating to the apportionment of the seats in the senate and assembly.

WHEREAS, the constitution of this state vests the power of legislative apportionment exclusively in the legislature; and

WHEREAS, the 1963 legislature establishes: Legislative districts in accordance with the final published results of the 1960 federal census of Wisconsin and with due regard to the requirements of the constitution of this state, in order to minimize the differences of population between the 100 assembly districts of the state, and between the 33 senate districts of the state; and

WHEREAS, for the assembly, the provisions of the Wisconsin constitution require districts of utmost convenience to the people of the whole state, which makes exact mathematical equality of population numbers impossible; and

JOINT RESOLUTIONS

WHEREAS, for the assembly county lines are held inviolable, assembly districts to consist of either a whole county, several whole counties, or several assembly districts placed wholly within a single county; and

WHEREAS, the territory of each assembly district is kept as compact as practicable; and

WHEREAS, the method of harmonic mean has been used to determine the number of assembly seats allocated to multi-assembly district counties; and

WHEREAS, for the senate, the provisions of the Wisconsin constitution require districts of the utmost convenience to the people of the whole state, which makes exact mathematical equality of population numbers impossible; and

WHEREAS, in establishing senate districts, assembly district lines are held inviolable, senate districts to consist of whole assembly districts, though not in all cases of whole counties; and

WHEREAS, no senate district exceeds by more than one-third the average population of all senate districts; and

WHEREAS, the territory of individual senate districts consists of contiguous assembly districts, convenient to the electors of the district; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the senate, the assembly concurring. That until otherwise provided, the senate and assembly districts are established as follows:

SECTION 1. APPORTIONMENT OF ASSEMBLY. Thirty-six counties of low population are combined into 16 multi-county assembly districts, each with a population near the state-wide average for assembly districts. Nineteen counties of population near the state-wide average for assembly districts, or for geographic reasons prevented from being combined into multi-county assembly districts, are established as single-county assembly districts. The remaining 65 assembly seats are distributed among the remaining 17 counties in accordance with population.
